Main Story

BACKGROUND RESEARCH

INTRODUCTION

- Children with hearing and speech impairments need alternative communication methods.
- Empathy and an inclusive environment are the keys to connection.

CONTEXT RESEARCH

- Non-verbal communication (eye contact, gestures) and sensory experiences are powerful connection tools.
- Shared play activities create bonds that overcome language barriers.

RELEVANCE TO THE STORY

- Tít (a boy who cannot hear or speak) and Hải build a deep friendship through gestures and actions on the beach.
- Message: The greatest "treasure" is a sharing heart and understanding without the need for words.

CHARACTER DESIGN

Tít

- Profile: A gentle and observant young girl living in the coastal area of Quy Nhơn. She cannot hear or speak, communicating instead through gestures and facial expressions.
- Personality & Motivation: Perceptive, peaceful, and appreciative of nature. She seeks to connect with the world around her and finds joy in discovering simple, everyday beauties.
- Symbolism: She represents the power of non-verbal empathy and the ability to build deep, meaningful connections beyond spoken language.

CHARACTER DESIGN

- Profile: A protective and sentimental city boy who is visiting the beach for summer vacation. He deeply values cherished memories and emotional bonds.
- Personality & Motivation: Compassionate, caring, and warm-hearted. He is motivated by a genuine desire to comfort, share with, and take care of those who need help.
- Symbolism: He represents empathy, open-mindedness, and the understanding that true "treasure" lies in human connection rather than material things.
